

THE WRANGELL SENTINEL

VOL. XVIII. NO. 29

WRANGELL, ALASKA, THURSDAY, JULY 10, 1919

PRICE TEN CENTS

Cable News

BERLIN—President Ebert has signed the bill ratifying the peace treaty and the document has been dispatched to Versailles.

VERSAILLES—Official notification of the ratification of the peace treaty by the German National Assembly was given to the peace conference this morning.

WEIMAR—Most of the ministers were present at the meeting of the National Assembly when the ratification treaty was voted upon. Mueller, the foreign minister, introducing government bills, explained that hastening of the ratification order would bring about the lifting of the blockade. "We are about to enter upon a forty year's march through a desert," he said. "I can find no other term for the path of suffering which fulfillment of the treaty prescribes for us."

PARIS—The German National Assembly at Weimar has adopted a resolution ratifying the peace treaty, according to advices received here today. The resolution read, "The peace treaty signed on June 28, as well as the protocol annexed and special agreements on military occupation of Rheinland are hereby ratified. This law becomes effective from date of promulgation."

BERLIN—Germany is quickly to return to peace time financial system, said Erzberger, vice-chancellor and minister of finance, speaking before the National Assembly.

PARIS—An interallied commission has been appointed to investigate the trouble in Fiume and other Adriatic ports between the Italian and the other Allied soldier forces of occupation. The Supreme Council also decided to appoint a committee of four to inquire into Norway's claims to Spitzbergen.

NEW YORK—Excerpts from the President's Carnegie Hall speech: "It is a wonderful thing for this nation hitherto isolated from the larger affairs of the world to win not only universal recognition, but universal respect. The League of Nations is characterized by universal affection—and that and nothing less than that is what has happened. The formulation of the peace treaty is ended, and it is a just peace, and a peace which, if can be preserved, will save the world from unnecessary bloodshed. I have come back with heartfelt enthusiasm for throwing everything that I can by way of influence for action in with you to see that peace is preserved, and that when long reckoning comes men may look upon this generation in America and say 'they were true to the vision which they saw at their birth.'"

WASHINGTON—The newly organized Pacific fleet sails from Hampton Roads for the West Coast.

WASHINGTON—The President is back at his desk at the Whitehouse this morning working under high pressure. He signed a number of important appropriation measures.

WASHINGTON—The President will start on a tour of the country in about two weeks. His itinerary includes a visit to the west coast where he will review the Pacific fleet.

LONDON—Crimea has been entirely cleared of Bolsheviks as a result of the advance of General Denikine's troops west of the Dnieper river.

ATLANTIC CITY—Frank L. Rain was today elected Grand Exalted Ruler of the Elks.

WASHINGTON—The French government has offered only three hundred million for American army equipment in France costing a billion and a half, Sales Director Hale told the House Committee investigating war expenditures. He closed his testimony by saying, "If France will not pay a fair figure we will take the stuff out of the country and sell it elsewhere."

Sawyer Back Again

B. R. Sawyer, who was released from jail on bond at Juneau two weeks ago, arrived in Wrangell on the Jefferson Sunday morning. Last week the Sentinel reported that Mr. Sawyer's bondsmen were Messrs. Walker and Koel of Ketchikan. Local officers of the Wrangell union have since informed the Sentinel that while the bond was negotiated by Messrs. Walker and Koel, $1400 of the amount of the bond was raised in cash by Wrangell Local No. 10, Alaska Labor Union, and transmitted to Ketchikan, thus making good the announcement published by the local union a few weeks ago that it would stand by Sawyer until he is convicted of the crimes of which he is charged.

Mrs. Fred Wigg and her daughter, Miss Grace Wigg, arrived from Petersburg last Wednesday to spend the Fourth in Wrangell. On the night of their arrival Miss Wigg had a serious attack of rheumatism. The next day her father made preparation to take her back to Petersburg but she was unable to make the trip until Saturday morning. The last report from Petersburg was that she was slightly improved.

The new flag on Mt. Dewey was hoisted on the eve of the Fourth of July, and its beautiful colors proudly waving in the breeze attracted no little attention among the visitors on the Fourth. The North Star orchestra deserves much praise for its patriotic enterprise in raising the funds with which the flag was purchased.

Wesley Sornberger on Monday began the work of tearing down the old courthouse building which has been vacant for several years. The building is one of the old landmarks, it having been built of California red cedar in 1868.

Ensign W. J. Carruthers returned Monday from Petersburg where he held services on Sunday. The Ensign reports that his meetings in the neighboring port were well attended.

J. W. Stoff of the Stoff & Reffing company of Petersburg was among the Petersburg visitors to Wrangell on the Fourth.

A. F. Zipf has resigned as traffic manager of the Admiral Line to accept the appointment as vice president and general manager of the Carlisle Packing company. Mr. Zipf is an old-timer in the North, having come into the country with the old A. C. interests prior to the Klondike, and was later with the Northern Commercial company with headquarters at St. Michael.

Mrs. M. J. Hayward leaves on the Jefferson tomorrow for Puget Sound to visit her daughter, Mrs. Hill Barrington—Skagway Alaskan.

WRANGELL CELEBRATES THE FOURTH

Governor Thomas Riggs Orator of the Day

It has always been the custom of Wrangell to celebrate the Fourth in a most joyous and enthusiastic manner, but our celebration this year had an added interest because of the presence of Governor and Mrs. Riggs who arrived Thursday noon on the Murre.

Everyone in town who could get away was at the wharf to welcome the distinguished guests. The Admiral Evans was in port and her passengers joined in the greetings. The Wrangell band playing gaily all the while.

Reception for Mrs. Riggs

During the afternoon the Wrangell ladies had the privilege of meeting Mrs. Riggs, as Mrs. McCormack entertained informally in her honor. Mrs. McCormack was assisted by Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Grant and Mrs. Pritchett. The home was beautifully decorated with wild flowers. Vocal solos by Miss Virginia Clark and Miss Katherine Bronson added much to the pleasure of the afternoon.

Governor Sees the Town

While the reception for Mrs. Riggs was in progress Governor Riggs was being shown the various industries of the town, in each of which he took a keen interest. That evening he and Mrs. Riggs were dinner guests at the home of F. E. Bronson.

Redmen's Annual Dance

Later in the evening Governor and Mrs. Riggs were present at the Redmen's annual dance as honor guests by special invitation from the Tribe. After their arrival at the hall dancing stopped for a time and a receiving line was formed giving every one present the opportunity of being presented to them.

Unfavorable Weather

On the morning of the Fourth there was every indication that the weather man had gone over to the enemy. At 9:30 the children and various organizations which were to participate in the parade met at the schoolhouse. It was drizzling rain and the threatening clouds indicated that a heavy downpour might be expected any minute. After consulting with each other those in charge of the celebration decided to postpone the parade for the present, hoping that the weather would change for the better during the day so that the parade could be held in the evening.

Patriotic Program

The patriotic exercises were held under the play shed on the school grounds.

The program was both patriotic and instructive, and each number was well received. The program was as follows:

America—Audience.

Declaration of Independence—J. W. Pritchett.

Song—"Your Town and Mine"—Seven children.

"America the Beautiful"—Miss Helen Fletcher.

Quartet "Stern Old Land"—High School Girls.

"The Oldest National Flag in the World"—Mrs. George H. Barnes.

"Battle Hymn of the Republic"—Audience.

"The Making of the Flag"—Elton Engstrom.

Vocal Solo—"Your Flag and Mine"—Miss Virginia Clark.

Address—Governor Thomas Riggs, Jr.

"The Star-Spangled Banner"—Audience.

Governor's Address Well Received

The orator of the day, Gov. Thomas Riggs, Jr., delivered a remarkable address in a most masterly manner. In his preliminary remarks the Governor expressed his pleasure at being the guest of the good people of Wrangell on Independence Day. Taking up the subject of his speech, one of the first things he said was that our independence was not achieved without opposition. He told of the burning patriotism of the men who signed the Declaration of Independence and then sought to make it a reality. He told something of what has been done since the days of the American revolution to preserve our independence, declaring that one cannot think of our country's glorious past without a feeling of responsibility.

He said that if England had had an English king in 1776 instead of a pig-headed German prince on the throne there would have been no revolution. He said that England had for a long time recognized the principles of justice in her relations with her colonies—that the Canadians, for instance, live in freedom and are perfectly loyal to their mother country. But we never want to be amalgamated. England and the United States have grown apart, formed different habits, and are destined to remain two separate great nations.

The speaker gave a brief review of America's part in the great world war, paying a glowing tribute to our valiant soldiers and sailors, and pointing out that their record is enough to make any one proud to be an American. He touched on the peace treaty and the League of Nations.

The Governor was earnest throughout his address, but his earnestness became more noticeable when he took up the subject of Bolshevism. He said he had recently been reading Lenin's explanation of Bolshevism, and that it is no new creed. He pointed out how plans such as are advocated by the Bolsheviks had been responsible for Germany's downfall. With great emphasis he threw out the challenge, "Show me a Bolshevik or an L. W. W. and I will show you a man who never did an honest day's work in his life." This brought forth prolonged applause.

The Governor's speech was right up to the minute. He dwelt at some length on the epoch making events of the past year, and even the last few days. The splendid impression he made on the audience was evidenced by frequent applause.

Street Sports

The afternoon was devoted to street sports which were thoroughly enjoyed by the spectators. A list of the prizes awarded is published on the third page.

Rain Breaks Up Ball Game

At the conclusion of the street sports there was a ball game between Wrangell and Petersburg.

Governor Riggs opened the game by pitching the first ball over the diamond. Captain Ray Ready acted as umpire. In the first half of the fourth inning the game was broken up by rain. The score at that time was 2 to 0 in favor of Petersburg. Had rain not interfered Lake Bay would have played the winner.

Wrangell Wins Tug of War

At 8 o'clock in the evening there was a tug of war between Wrangell and Lake Bay which lasted an hour and five minutes and was finally won by Wrangell. This furnished more excitement than any other event of the day. Both sides had plenty of enthusiastic rooters.

Another Dance

Following the tug of war there was a dance at the Redmen's hall given by Samuel Cunningham. It was largely attended and hugely enjoyed.

A Regrettable Feature

For the children's sake it is to be regretted that the parade had to be declared off. A number of little girls and boys were on hand Friday morning in their white costumes made especially for the occasion. Several floats had been arranged for, and if the parade had taken place there would have been some pretty sights.

See Gray's Mounted Birds

It was the pleasure of Governor and Mrs. Riggs on Saturday morning to see the excellent collection of Alaskan birds, gathered and mounted by Mr. F. H. Gray.

Healy Knew Riggs' Grandfather

While looking over Maurice Healy's curio shop, it was discovered that Mr. Healy had known Gov. Riggs' grandfather in Washington, D. C. during Civil War times, when Mr. Healy was one of the boys in blue and Mr. Riggs, Sr., was president of the Riggs' Bank.

Visit the Totems

During the morning they were shown the Wrangell totem poles and the famous Chief Shakes collection of Indian curios, Rev. H. P. Corser explaining the old myths and legends represented by the totems.

Wrangell Falls in Love With Governor and Mrs. Riggs

Wrangell was glad to welcome our Governor and the first lady of Alaska. Their coming to us was an honor which we deeply appreciate; but few of us were prepared to have them walk into our hearts and affections as they did. They are such big people that they made us forget their high position, and by their friendliness and simplicity of bearing we came quickly to feel that they were just home folks whose visit we were enjoying immensely.

When the time came to go, they left a town full of friends behind them who will always remember them with pleasure and affection and whose best wishes for their happiness and welfare will ever reach out after them.

Fido Club Tells Bear Story

The Fido Club went to Ideal Cove last Sunday in Captain Johansen's boat, the Karen, for a day's outing. They report having had a very enjoyable day. Leo McCormack is sponsor for a delightful bear story that is probably true, but which some of the party were unkind enough to doubt although Leo usually has a reputation for truth and veracity.

The Fido Club is having its second summer of good times out of doors and the interest of the members is constantly increasing with each outing.

Columbia & Northern Reported Taken Over By the Government

The following dispatch from Washington sent by J. J. Underwood was published in the Seattle Times last Thursday:

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Having acquired certain rights in the operation of canneries in Alaska and at other points along the Pacific coast, officials of the office of the custodian of enemy alien property are hoping for a good run of salmon along the Pacific this summer.

According to announcement made today, the United States is now the owner of nine per cent of the stock of the South Alaska Canning company with offices in the Central Building, Seattle; 12 per cent of the stock of the Alaska Pacific Herring company, also of Seattle; 100 per cent of the stock of Pacific Mill Cure company of Seattle, and 100 per cent of the stock of the Columbia & Northern Fisheries company, with offices in Portland and plants situated at Altoona, Wash., Wrangell, Alaska, and Fort Bragg, Calif. The value of these holdings is said to be approximately $4,000,000.

It was found that the stock in these companies was owned by citizens of Germany, although some of the stock in the companies taken over by the government was owned by American citizens, and other portions of it are held by citizens of Norway. In the case of the South Alaska Cannery company, $600,000 worth of the stock is alleged to be held by Norwegian citizens.

The Government will name directors for the company in which an interest has been acquired.

Mrs. L. West and little daughter, Florence Irene, arrived on the City of Seattle Tuesday afternoon from Eureka, Calif., to join Mr. West, who is wharfinger at the St. Michael Trading company dock. Mrs. West was accompanied north by her friend, Miss M. E. Buckley of Arcadia, Calif. Mr. and Mrs. West will make their home in one of the Patenaude cottages near the radio station.

Lawrence Taylor was recently transferred from San Pedro, California to Bremerton. Mr. Taylor expects to receive his discharge in the near future after which he and his wife will come to Wrangell.

Walter Williams arrived from the South on the City of Seattle Tuesday. Mr. Williams' home is at Bayview. In 1917, while in school at Chemawa, he enlisted in the Navy and has been in the service of his country from that time until his discharge recently. He will spend the summer fishing in the vicinity of Bayview.

Henry Labisky, who has been in charge of the wireless station at Craig since its establishment, arrived on the Gloria yesterday. Mr. Labisky is on his way to Seattle where he will receive a new assignment. He is succeeded at Craig by W. S. H. Wood of Sulzer who recently enlisted in the Signal Corps of the United States Army.

Miss Adeline Goff of Harlem, Mont., who has been attending the Salem high school, arrived on the City of Seattle Tuesday in company with her friend, Miss Annie Loftus. Miss Goff expects to spend the summer in Wrangell. The Ida May has been chartered to the F. C. Barnes company at Lake Bay for the season.

America's Immortals

Most striking instances of gallantry for which the Distinguished Service Cross has been awarded

No fiction has ever presented more amazing tales of physical prowess and gallantry under fire than are disclosed by the following official reports of deeds of American fighters in France for which the Distinguished Service Cross has been awarded. These were selected by General Pershing's staff out of hundreds of reports telling of remarkable bravery and fortitude displayed by American soldiers in action.

SIDNEY E. MANNING,

Corporal, Co. G, 167th Infantry. Corporal Manning received the Distinguished Service Cross for conspicuous gallantry near Bruyannes, France, July 28, 1918. Corporal Manning was in charge of an automatic rifle squad during an assault by his battalion on the strongly fortified heights overlooking the Ourcq river for the purpose of exploiting the successful passage of the stream. During the advance on the hill his platoon commander was killed and just as the crest was reached the platoon sergeant was wounded. Corporal Manning then assumed command of the platoon, which was near the center of the assaulting line and was meeting with desperate resistance. Though he himself was severely wounded and was the only survivor of his squad, this soldier led forward the 35 effectives remaining in the platoon against an enemy strong point which was wired, entrenched and defended by machine guns and dominated the entire Ourcq valley. He was repeatedly wounded, but he succeeded in getting a foothold at this strong point with but seven men remaining with him. While the latter consolidated their position under his direction, with the platoon on the flank, he held off a considerable number of the enemy 50 yards away by fire from his automatic rifle. He remained in this position until the entire line had been consolidated, when he crawled back to shelter, having received nine wounds. Mrs. Lizzie Manning, his mother, lives in Flomatin, Ala.

JOHN C. VILLEPIQUE,

Corporal, Company M, 118th Infantry. For unusual bravery displayed in action at Vaux-Andigny, France, October 15, 1918, Corp. Villepique was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross. Having been sent out with two other soldiers to scout through the village of Vaux-Andigny, Corp. Villepique met with strong resistance from enemy machine gun fire, which killed one of his men and wounded the other. Continuing his advance, without aid, 600 yards in advance of his platoon and in the face of artillery and machine gun fire, he encountered four of the enemy in a dugout, whom he attacked and killed with a hand grenade. Crawling forward to a point 150 yards in advance of his first encounter he rushed a machine gun nest, killing four and capturing six of the enemy, and taking two light machine guns. After being joined by his platoon, he was severely wounded in the arm. Corp. Villepique's home is with his mother, Mrs. P. T. Villepique, 1517 Lyttleton street, Canada, S.C.

GEORGE DILBOY,

Private, Company H, 103rd Infantry. Private Dilboy won the Distinguished Service Cross for conspicuous gallantry near Belieu, France, July 18, 1918. He died from wounds received at that time. After his platoon had gained its objective along a railroad embankment, Private Dilboy, accompanying his platoon leader to reconnoiter the ground beyond, was suddenly fired upon by an enemy machine gun from one hundred yards. From a standing position on the railroad track, fully exposed to view, he opened fire at once, but failing to silence the gun, rushed forward with his bayonet fixed, through a wheat field toward the gun emplacement, falling within twenty-five yards of the gun with his right leg nearly severed above the knee, and with several bullet holes in his body, with undaunted courage, he continued to fire into the emplacement from a prone position, killing two of the enemy and dispersing the rest of the crew. Private Dilboy's home was in Boston, Mass.

JAMES C. DOZIER,

First Lieutenant, Company G, 113th Infantry. For conspicuous bravery after being wounded near Montbrehain, France, October 8, 1918. Lieut. Dozier was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross. In command of two platoons, Lieut. Dozier was painfully wounded in the shoulder early in the attack, but he continued to lead his men displaying the highest bravery and skill. When his command was held up by heavy machine gun fire, he disposed his men in the best cover available and with a soldier continued forward to attack a machine gun nest. Creeping up to the position in the face of intense fire, he killed the entire crew with hand grenades and his pistol, and a little later captured a number of Germans who had taken refuge in a dugout nearby. Lieut. Dozier's home is with his father, John H. Dozier, 524 Ashafrel street, Rock Hill, S. C.

GEORGE G. MCMURTRY,

Captain, 308th Infantry. Captain McMurry received the Distinguished Service Cross for conspicuous gallantry in action at Charlevans, in the Forest d'Argonne, France, October 2 to 8, 1918. Captain McMurry commanded a battalion which was cut off and surrounded by the enemy and, although wounded in the knee by shrapnel on October 4, and suffering great pain, continued throughout the entire period to encourage his officers and men with irresistible optimism that contributed largely toward preventing panic and disorder among the troops who were without food, cut off from communication with our lines October 4, during a heavy barrage, he personally directed and supervised the moving of the wounded to shelter before he himself sought shelter. October 6 he was wounded in the shoulder by a German grenade, but continued personally to organize and direct the defense against the German attack on the position until the attack was defeated. He continued to direct and command his troops, refusing relief, and personally led his men out of the position after assistance arrived, before permitting himself to be taken to the hospital October 8. During this period the successful defense of the position was due largely to his efforts. His wife is at 22 East 70th street, New York.

HAROLD A. FURLONG,

First Lieutenant, Company M, 353rd Infantry.

Lieut. Furlong won the Distinguished Service Cross for bravery in action near Bantheville, France, November 1, 1918. Immediately after the opening of the attack in the Bois de Bantheville, when his company was held up by severe machine gun fire from the front, which killed his company commander and several soldiers, Lieut. Furlong moved out in advance of the line with great courage and coolness, crossing an open space several hundred yards wide. Taking up a position behind the line of machine guns, he closed in on them, one at a time, killing a number of the enemy with his rifle, putting four machine gun nests out of action, and driving twenty German prisoners into our lines. Lieut. Furlong's home is at 2950 West Grand boulevard, Detroit, Mich.

MICHAEL J. PERKINS,

Private, First Class, Company D, 101st Infantry.

Private Perkins (deceased) was decorated for conspicuous gallantry in action with the enemy at Belleau Bois, France, October 27, 1918. He voluntarily crawled alone to a German "pill box" machine gun emplacement, from which grenades were being thrown at his platoon. Awaiting his opportunity, when the door was again opened and another grenade thrown over him, he threw a bomb inside, bursting the door open, and then, drawing his trench knife, rushed into the emplacement. In a hand-to-hand struggle he killed and wounded several of the occupants and captured twenty-five prisoners, at the same time silencing seven machine guns. Michael Perkins, his father, lives at 247 E street, South Boston, Mass.

CARL F. PAYSON,

Sergeant, Company C, 125th Infantry. Sergt. Payson (deceased) received the Distinguished Service Cross for conspicuous gallantry in action with the enemy at Clères, northeast of Chateau-Thierry, France, August 1, 1918. During the attack made by his company on the village of Clères, Sergt. Payson was mortally wounded in the head by a machine gun bullet. He succeeded in keeping his feet, however, and with the attacking wave, encouraging them. By his strong will power he instilled in them all the spirit of fearlessness. Mrs. Minnie Timberman, his mother, lives in Monroe, Mich.

GARY EVANS FOSTER,

Sergeant, Company F, 118th Infantry. Sergt. Foster, whose home is at Inman, S. C., was decorated for conspicuous bravery displayed near Montbrehain, France, October 8, 1918. When his company was held up by violent machine gun fire from a sunken road, Sergt. Foster, with an officer, went forward to attack the hostile machine gun nests. The officer was wounded, but Sergt. Foster continued on alone in the face of the heavy fire and by effective use of hand grenades and his pistol killed several of the enemy and captured eighteen.

WILLIAM M. FEIGLE,

Sergeant, 5th Regiment, U. S. Marine Corps.

Sergt. Feigle upheld the traditions of the marines and was decorated for conspicuous intrepidity at Beaumont, France, November 10, 1918. While an ammunition train was passing through the town one of the trucks was struck by a shell and set on fire. Knowing that it would soon explode and kill all those in the vicinity, Sergt. Feigle jumped on the truck and drove it to the outskirts of the town, thereby saving the lives of at least thirty-five people.

Mrs. Mattie Rooney, formerly of 631 North Ninth street, Sawtelle, has taken to the hills to get closer to Mother Nature and live a life free from the cares of civilization. Her only companions in the hills are five dogs, three donkeys and parrot. To visitors who found her at her Topanga canyon home a few days ago Mrs. Rooney declared that she had never been so happy in her life. The parrot echoed her happiness by singing the doxology and shouting hallelujah. Mrs. Rooney is the widow of a Civil war veteran and finds her pension enough to meet her simple wants.

"I'm sick and tired of an artificial life," is her explanation for going to the hills to live. "I want to spend the rest of my days in close communion with my maker. I want to forget what the world calls civilization. My dogs, my donkeys and my parrot I know are my sincere friends and they give me good company."

"Never hear much about malaria out this way any more."

"No," answered Uncle Bill Bottletop. "Malaria gets terrible unpopular when there is nothing to cure it with except quinine."

TIPS FROM TEXAS

Furthermore, our favorite aircastle is papered with oil stock certificates.

Another reason why a man is a man is because no matter what his wife pays for her hat, he tells her she got stung.

Personally we would rather be right than be president, but we don't seem to stand much chance of election, right or wrong.

Tillie Clinger says she dreamed last night she was married to a man named Kultur, and had him arrested for wife-beating.

As a rule, it is time for you to quit going to the photographer's after he acknowledges that he can't make you look like anything.

Our position simply is that every rich woman should allow her husband enough money to keep her from being known as a tightwad.—Dallas News.

SPLINTERS

No matter how hard a man runs for office he is perfectly satisfied to win a walk.

Reflection often reduces a man to humiliation, but it more often increases a woman's vanity.

A few persons would like to see themselves as others see them, but most of us would rather have others see us as we see ourselves.

A man knows that a strop properly used makes a sharp razor, but the little shaver knows that when vigorously applied it makes dull pain.

One of the kaiser's regrets probably is that he didn't have a Hun U-boat on the job when Noah floated the ark so he could have killed all the birds and things with one torpedo.

THIS AND THAT

Nearly 6 per cent of the world's crop of potatoes is spoiled or wasted.

Fifty per cent of all the food raised in this country never reaches the consumer.

Near Yakutsk, in Russia, there is a well of solid ice which has been penetrated to a depth of 382 feet without any indication of the bottom.

A brown dye for leathers may be made as follows: Boil half an ounce of Spanish saffron and a quarter of an ounce of annato in water until the dye is extracted, in which must be added some alcohol to set the color.

Branch No. 4

Notice to Fishermen

Our 20th year in the Fish-buying Industry will prove that whenever we establish a new Branch we stay, and are also trying to do our best to give all fisherman the best possible service and prices, whether on the fishing ground or at any of our four Alaska Branches. We have the Launches Standard and Circle II and also our new ready equipped scow which will be placed on the fishing grounds around Wrangell in the early spring. This will enable us to prove our service to you Fishermen. Now we want you all to give us a fair chance at your fresh Salmon and Halibut or other varieties of fresh fish.

Three New Postmasters

WASHINGTON—New postmaster appointments for Alaska were announced by the Postoffice Department follows: John F. Henson, Douglas; Anna M. Stevenson, Thane; and Alice M. Coughlin, Treadwell. At the suggestion of Delegate Grigsby the Postoffice Department is considering a proposition to raise a number of Alaskan postoffices from the fourth to third class.

Mrs. Henry Hull made a trip to Petersburg this week to have her eyes examined by Dr. Upton.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Wendell Holmes, Jr., were Admiral Evans passengers last Thursday. Mr. Holmes is the only son of the poet-novelist. Mrs. Holmes is a daughter of Mr. Beman, who was a law partner of the late Rufus Choate. Mrs. Holmes and Mrs. Riggs were schoolmates during their early girlhood, but had not seen each other for several years until they met here.

Have your watch repaired at George Cowan's, in the Uhler Block.

Alfred Royalty, Otto Vieweg, and Carl Stoeckel comprised a fishing party who went to Mill Creek Saturday night and on to Crittenden Creek Sunday. The boys are not boasting as to what success they had but are rather reticent on the subject, confining their conversation the weather, mosquitos and such topics.

Cordova is to raise a substantial memorial to its boys who gave up their lives in the cause of the nation. It is proposed to erect a concrete monument on the brow of the hill near the flag pole which will be four feet high in the clear and five feet square. It will contain on its face a large bronze tablet, suitably inscribed with the names of men who met death "over here" and on the battlefields "over there."

Mr. and Mrs. T. Elsemere of Petersburg were among our Fourth of July visitors.

For the shave and haircut of satisfaction go to Ed Grigwir's shop, opposite drug store.

Mrs. J. W. Wheeler is expected home on the Admiral Evans this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon D. McDonald of Petersburg visited here on the Fourth.

AN ADAGE OBSTRUCTED.

"Make hay while the sun shines," exclaimed the ready-made philosopher.

"Yes," commented Farmer Corn-toss; "it's easy said. But what could you do with a bunch of farm-ettes that was every one afraid of gettin' freckled?"

"Did you ever visit Germany?" said Mrs. Snobles.

"Yes. And I must admit I found some very agreeable acquaintances."

"I thought as much! I was telling my husband today that you had been associating with the common people and not with the aristocracy."

The farmer looked at the merchant a moment and then said:

"Why don't you patronize your home paper and advertiser? I read it and didn't know that you had the stuff I have here."

MORAL—ADVERTISE

"Yes, we spent the summer in a portable house."

"Your relatives complain that none of them could find your house."

"I told you it was portable," said the other man with a wink.

MARKED CHANGE IN ALASKA

Visitors to Territory Need No Longer Fear They Will Have to Exist on Canned "Eats."

Not many years ago the Alaskan was like a man on a desert island—he had to have his meals sent to him. Now, on a pinch, the northern territory could furnish its own board very adequately. Listen to this all-Alaskan menu, furnished for the dinner given at Anchorage to the special federal commission, sent to investigate the natural resources and transportation problems of south and central Alaska:

Cordova clam soup, Kachemak bay shrimp, Alaska celery and radishes, Seldovia halibut, Cook inlet salmon; Kenai moose, Clackaloon mountain sheep, Whitney's ranch fresh pork, Matanuska potatoes, Alaska peas, turnips, carrots, cauliflower, Hopi blueberry pie, Anchorage dairy butter and milk, Anchorage roasted coffee.

The wild country of gold rushes and canned eats has progressed to a point where it has productive farms and dairies, is capable of producing its own food, and is beginning to ship a surplus to the States.

DEEP SEA TALK

Judge Shark—What became of the dogfish prisoner, officer?

Officer Lobster—Er—he escaped your honor. Some one handed him a sawfish.

NEW FERTILIZING MATERIAL

The fertilizing material obtained from industrial wastes in the United States is stated by W. H. Ross of the Bureau of Soils to have included 10 per cent of the potash in 1916, 8 per cent of the phosphoric acid, and 85 per cent of the nitrogen. The potash was obtained from such wastes as tobacco stems, cottonseed hulls, hardwood ashes, wood washings, blast-furnace flue dust, cement flue dust and sugar residues. The phosphoric acid was supplied by such materials as bones, shells, fish scrap and basic slag. The nitrogen came from wastes in the manufacture of castor, linseed and fish oils; from animal wastes, as blood, hair, horns, hoofs and hides; from leather and wool wastes; from coke, and from numerous other substances. By adding feldspar and other potash minerals to cement materials, it is believed the yearly recovery of potash from cement-plant waste might be raised from 70,000 tons to 100,000 tons.

JUDGE SHARK

The moon brings us daylight at four o'clock in the morning.

Waterloo was on the battle line picked out by the Brutes.

A considerable portion of government costs more than it is worth.

It is poor policy to talk too much, and so quit when you have nothing to say.

The chief aim of life is to consume more of this world's goods than one produces.

When you propose to enforce the liquor law be careful how you spell his name.

WORTH-WHILE SAYINGS

Jalousie is the homage that infidelity pays to merit.

Truth wears nothing but concealment—Guzot.

To live in hearts we leave behind is not to die.—Thomas Campbell.

The rate of the child is always the work of his mother.—Napoleon.

Could we see when and where we are to meet again we would be more tender when we bid our friends goodbye.—Ouida.

ARKANSAS THOMAS "SCATS"

It takes a small boy who is just old enough to ask questions to take the conceit out of the man who thinks he knows it all.

Try to live so that your friends will not have to cross their fingers when they are telling what a good citizen you were when you die.

Of course, it is none of our business. But we have noticed that a girl who is well built has too much sense to wear a corset when she is wearing a tight sweater.

FROM THE PENCIL'S POINT

The closer money is the harder it is to get hold of it.

Love and a canal boat are both internal transports.

Our mistakes contribute much to the wisdom of others.

Age makes some people wise and others only stubborn.

You can tell a turkey's age by the teeth—your teeth, not the turkey's.

If a man lacks enthusiasm it takes him twice as long to accomplish a task.

A man keeps his wife in hot water when she is forced to take in washing for him.
